Explanation

The bill establishes the Elderly Homeowner Property Tax Revolving Fund, administered by the Office of Policy and Management (OPM). The fund will be used to provide loans to certain elderly property taxpayers who have failed to pay property taxes for two prior assessment years, and who meet other requirements. The bill requires revenue deposited into the fund to be used to cover the operating expenses of the fund.

The cost of providing the loans would vary based on the number of people eligible, and on the size of the loans they take out. The bill allows investment earnings, including the principal and interest on the loans, to be used to fund loans under the program. The bill provides credited investment earnings to the Fund but does not specify a funding source.

Depending on the number of people who apply for this loan, OPM could incur costs as high as $484,390 annually to administer the fund. This includes annual salary costs of $264,824 and annual fringe costs¹ of $219,566 to hire an office assistant, a paralegal, a staff attorney, and an underwriter. It is anticipated that these costs would not be fully realized in FY 16, depending on the timing of personnel hires.

To the extent that Elderly Homeowner Property Tax Revolving Loan Fund provides homeowners who owe unpaid taxes with a way of paying those taxes, there is a revenue gain to municipalities.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to the number of applicants and the value of the loans they receive.

¹ The fringe benefit costs for employees funded out of other appropriated funds are budgeted within the fringe benefit account of those funds, as opposed to the fringe benefit accounts within the Office of the State Comptroller. The estimated active employee fringe benefit cost associated with most personnel changes for other appropriated fund employees is 82.91% of payroll in FY 16 and FY 17.

OLR Bill AnalysissHB 6395AN ACT ESTABLISHING A REVOLVING LOAN FUND TO ASSIST ELDERLY HOMEOWNERS.SUMMARY:

This bill establishes the Elderly Homeowner Property Tax Revolving Loan Fund and allows the Office of Policy and Management (OPM) secretary to use the fund to make loans to income-eligible, elderly homeowners (age 65 or older) who failed to pay property taxes for at least two assessment years.

The bill outlines conditions governing the loans and eligibility criteria. It provides no funding source for the fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 2015

ELDERLY HOMEOWNER PROPERTY TAX REVOLVING LOAN FUND

The bill establishes this revolving loan fund and allows the OPM secretary to use the fund to provide loans at the prevailing interest rate to homeowners who:

1. are age 65 or older on the date they apply for a loan;
2. failed to pay property taxes for at least two assessment years, on a property not otherwise encumbered;
3. have lived in the municipality where the property is located for at least 10 years before applying; and
4. in the tax year immediately preceding the application date, have qualifying income not exceeding the income limit for the existing circuit breaker program. (Under that program (see

BACKGROUND), the current qualifying income limit is $42,200 for a married couple and $34,600 for an unmarried person.)

In addition, the bill allows the OPM secretary to set asset limits as a condition of eligibility.

The principal loan amount must not exceed the amount of taxes levied against the property.

If the state provides a loan, the OPM secretary must establish a lien on the property subject to taxes in the amount of the loan, plus interest at the prevailing interest rate, as he determines. Any such lien has a priority over all other liens on the property, except a municipal property tax lien.

Fund Operation

Under the bill, investment earnings credited to the fund become part of the fund's assets. Any fiscal year-end fund balance must be carried over to the next fiscal year. Principal or interest payments on loans under the bill must be remitted to the state treasurer for deposit in the fund. The fund must be used to (1) make loans as specified above and (2) pay reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in administering the loan program.

Eligibility for Other Tax Relief Programs

The bill specifies that homeowners who receive loans from the fund remain eligible for other municipal property tax relief available to elderly homeowners under the local option tax relief, circuit breaker, and tax freeze programs.

BACKGROUND

Circuit Breaker Program

This program entitles seniors and homeowners who are totally disabled to a property tax credit of up to $ 1,250 for married couples and $1,000 for single persons. An applicant must (1) be age 65 or older, have a spouse who is age 65 or older, be at least age 50 and a surviving spouse of someone who upon death was eligible for the program, or be totally and permanently disabled; (2) occupy the property as his or her home; and (3) have income under a certain threshold. The income limit is adjusted annually (CGS § 12-170aa).
